

MLB 36460

Meet United States Coast Guard Motor Lifeboat 36460. This 36-foot Motor Lifeboat (MLB) was built in 1941 in Curtis Bay, Maryland and represents one of the most widely used and relied upon rescue boats in Coast Guard history.

These self-bailing and self-righting workhorses could handle icy conditions and waves up to 60 feet, had a watertight survivors' cabin and engine rooms and 2000lb bronze keels. 36460 served for 35 years before retiring and underwent several restorations by new owners. This boat is also a movie star! 36460 starred in the Disney film The Finest Hours, which tells the true story of the 1952 Pendleton oil tanker rescue. After its time in the spotlight in Hollywood, 36460 has found a no-less exciting home as one of the stars of the MMM fleet!
